

What Benefits Can You Qualify For?

The Benefits Check-Up webpage provided by the National Council on Aging can be helpful in finding benefits seniors or people with disabilities including brain injury qualify for: <http://www.benefitscheckup.org>.

On this webpage you enter some basic financial information, no bank accounts, no social security numbers, no names or physical address. No one will be sending you junk mail, or junk e-mail, or coming to see if what you entered was valid. This site is a great tool for those who have unmet needs and are looking for resources.

When you finish the questionnaire, you are provided with a list of programs you could potentially qualify for. They even give you helpful hints regarding what kinds of information you will need to provide the specific program when you apply for assistance.